

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

When digital contents sold to a user become useless to the user, the digital contents and the license of the digital contents are collected or purchased from the user so that a privilege such as discount sale of other digital contents or addition of discount points is granted to the user having the license.